1. Introduction

This call is addressed to non-EU candidates, residing abroad, applying for a visa at Italian Diplomatic-Consular Representations, who hold a foreign qualification.

For admission to the Master's Degree in Sustainable Industrial Engineering (class LM-33), all candidates must submit an online assessment application and undergo the assessment of personal preparation by 31 March 2026, according to the procedures indicated in this call.

Enrolment must be completed without fail by 22 December 2026.

Italian candidates, EU candidates (wherever resident), and foreigners legally residing in Italy, holding a suitable qualification, must follow the procedure indicated in the specific call reserved for them to be admitted to the Master's Degree in Sustainable Industrial Engineering (class LM-33), which will be published tentatively by March 2026 on the website: Calls | Università degli Studi di Modena e Reggio Emilia.

2. Qualifications and knowledge required

The academic career will be evaluated by a dedicated Commission that will verify knowledge of basic subjects (Mathematics, Physics, etc.) typical of Engineering and those specific to Industrial and Mechanical Engineering. This knowledge will be verified through the evaluation of the university career; an interview may also be necessary.

Based on the specific procedures provided for by the Teaching Regulations of the Master's Degree Course in Sustainable Industrial Engineering, if the course of study is not fully consistent with the requirements, the Commission will evaluate the need to supplement the curriculum with an additional path at the student's expense, to be successfully completed by 30 April 2026.

As specified in the following paragraph, the qualification obtained abroad must have a grade equal to or higher than 3/4 (three quarters) of the maximum score provided by the university system of origin.

If the CGPA is not provided, the weighted average of the grades will be used.

3. Assessment of academic background

The assessment of personal initial preparation will be carried out by a specific Commission and knowledge will be considered satisfied if the candidate is in possession of:

1. An academic qualification "Bachelor level" considered suitable, obtained abroad by 31 March 2026, and if the student's career satisfies at least one of the following conditions:
 - a. Qualification obtained with a grade higher than 3/4 (three quarters) of the maximum expected;
 - b. Average of exam grades higher than 3/4 (three quarters) of the maximum expected (if the qualification has not yet been obtained at the time of assessment);
 - c. Qualification with a grade equivalent to C or higher on the ECTS scale;

- d. Qualification with a grade equivalent to a Grade Point Average equal to 3/4 (three quarters) or higher.
2. B2 level language certification from the Common European Framework of Reference or, alternatively, a declaration issued by the home University confirming that the candidate has reached this level of competence. The following are accepted:
 - a. International certificates recognised by UNIMORE, present in the list at the link Centro Linguistico di Ateneo;
 - b. University English exams with content equivalent to B2, documented by a declaration from the university of origin;
 - c. Achievement of a "Bachelor degree" in English;
 - d. Origin from English-speaking countries (foreign or Italian citizens who, by family derivation or linguistic background, have the ability to express themselves naturally in the language of origin, are to be considered native speakers).

For candidates who do not have adequate documentation to certify their level of knowledge at the time of application, the Language Centre of the University of Modena and Reggio Emilia offers the possibility of taking a remote B2 level test. Registration for the English test is subject to the submission of the application for the degree course. All information relating to the test is published at: Centro Linguistico di Ateneo.
